The Open Science Approach: A Transferable Field School Model for Problem-Based Learning

Pat Harrison, Botanical Research Institute of Texas
April Sawey, Botanical Research Institute of Texas
Keri Barfield, Botanical Research Institute of Texas
Karen Hall, Clemson University
Kent W. Bridges, retired-University of Hawaii-Manoa
Will McClatchey, Botanical Research Institute of Texas
Conservation Ethnobiology Field School - Hawaii
Ethnobotany Field School - Hawaii
Ethnobotany Field School - Hawaii
Ethnobotany Field School - Hawaii
Ethnobotany Field School - Hawaii
BUT...

Is the model transferable to younger students?
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth, TX
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth

Journaling
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth

A lot of Journaling
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth

Photography
Gathering Data
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth

Observing new organisms!
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth
BRIT Field School – Fort Worth
We Are Ready!
Curious by nature.

Port Aransas, Texas Gulf Coast
UT Marine Science Institute
Welder Wildlife, Port A

In the morning we have a choice. Continue with your dream or wake up and chase
your dream.
- Princess Villegas

Morningside Middle
University of Texas – The Katy
University of Texas – The Katy
Reflection & Team Building
So... What was transferable and what was not?
April Sawey  asawey@brit.org

Keri Barfield  kbarfield@brit.org

Karen Hall  carlson@me.com

www.brit.org