WHAT IS FRONTIERS?

Frontiers in Ecology and the Environment is the most recent addition to ESA's publishing program. The journal features peer-reviewed, synthetic review articles and short research communications on all aspects of ecology and the environment and related disciplines, as well as editorials, international news, columnists, and much more.

WHO READS FRONTIERS?

Frontiers is a full-color journal offering broad, interdisciplinary appeal for all users of ecological science. The content is timely, relevant, and understandable, making it accessible to those reading outside of their area of expertise as well. With an impact factor of 4.745, Frontiers is ranked 2nd out of 140 journals in the Environment category of the highly prestigious Thompson Scientific Journal Citation report. The journal is also ranked 6th out of 107 journals in the Ecology category.

WHY ADVERTISE IN FRONTIERS?

The ESA membership consists of nearly 10,000 scientists, including professional ecologists, environmental scientists, researchers, educators, and policy makers from a broad range of specialties and backgrounds. Every member of ESA receives Frontiers, ensuring that your advertisement reaches the desired audience.

A December 2004 Readership Survey indicated that 54% of respondents share Frontiers with at least 1 other person; 17% share it with 3 or more people. These results suggest the journal offers exposure to a readership of more than 40,000. In addition, given that 82% of survey respondents indicated that they influence or have authority over what products and services are purchased and used, these readers include the audience our advertisers most want to reach.
